

White House Improvements.

A POPULAR HOSTESS.

Spring housecleaning at the White House is in progress, and besides the hundreds of feet of white paint being spread over the outside of the big In- grass and blossoms. In keeping with the late Mrs. Wilson's ideas, the long lagoons on either side of the south-front portico of the mansion, and which reflect with artistic effect the columns of the semi-circular porch and the residence itself, are ready to be filled with water. A border of tulips about the oblong plots of ground is just bursting into blossom, and the skillfully carved stone benches, which were also ordered by Mrs. Wilson, have been brought from their winter shelter and stand at either end of the gardens. The charming Italian statue of Pan, which stood in the western garden, has a brand-new coat of paint to protect him from the weather and will soon be landed into position. There has been no effort to care for the great stretch of lawn at the south of the White House, other than trimming the trees and shrubs, for the historic egg rolling Easter Monday will leave it a veritable wreck for the time being. The violets and buttercups that dot the lawn in springtime, and even the crocus which are shy about coming up until the thousands of little feet have had their turn on the beautiful lawn. There is often heard a protest against the custom of egg rolling on that particular spot, but the oldest of the White House gardeners said that the egg did not hurt it a little bit and the big rollers would have it in fine trim in less than a week.

WILL SUMMER AT MONMOUTH BEACH.

MRS. THOMAS G. PATTON,
Wife of Representative Patton of New York. She plans to spend the summer season at the New Jersey resort.

Picked Up Here and There.

An unusually pretty luncheon was given in Atlanta last week in honor of a much-feted bride-to-be.

The table decoration was an artistic scheme in pink and silver. The centerpiece was a silver basket of pink roses and white stock, in which was introduced a spring suggestion in lavender hyacinths, and fresh orange blossoms were scattered over the table. The silver bordered place cards bore silver monograms, and souvenirs at each place were little silver fans. Other favors were little bisque figures of brides. Individual baskets, bordered with pink ribbons and valley lilies, held the bonbons, and the almond holders were pink roses, to which were tied sprays of orange blossoms. A pretty detail of an elegant luncheon were the little cakes, which were embellished with gold rings and valley lilies, with the monogram of the bride-to-be in the center of the ring.

Each course was decorated with different colored flowers made of carved fruits and vegetables, and the ice represented a chariot drawn by two doves and driven by a bride.

Dr. and Mrs. Preston Satterwhite of New York, who are well known in this city, where they are frequently visited, are in the city, the guests of Mrs. Albert Thornton, who entertained at one of the most elaborate dinner dances of the season in their honor.

There were a hundred guests present and a profusion of jonquills formed the decoration.

The marriage of Miss Marie Merrill and Mr. Francis Philip Sears of Boston, which took place in St. Paul recently, was one of the biggest events of the social season in that city.

The lower hall and on the stair railing asparagus ferns were used.

In the evening Mr. and Mrs. Sears left for Hot Springs, Va., where they will make a horseback tour.

At a wedding in Detroit last week the ceremony took place in the drawing room of the bride's home, which was converted into a bower of pink roses for the occasion.

The bride's dress was of white chiffon, with the flounce and party and the daintiest of bodice of sequins. From her shoulders fell a court train and a cap held her veil of tulle, which was caught with lilies of the valley.

The maid of honor wore a white pussy willow tulle picture gown and the bridesmaids wore spangled tulle dresses.

Post-Lenten Entertainments.

Many of the most important post-lenten entertainments have stood on the social calendar for weeks past, but the most brilliant event, of course, is the ball at the navy yard tomorrow night. All other events are secondary. It was at the Army and Navy League ball in 1913 that Mrs. Wilson and her daughters made their first formal bow to society, and the ball has long been patronized by Presidents and their families, and, in fact, the entire administration circle. Mourning at the White House precedes the attendance of the President's immediate family, but the cabinet members will attend.

Among the dinner parties preceding the ball will be the one at the navy yard with Capt. and Mrs. Edward W. Eberle as hosts and the Secretary of the Navy and Mrs. Daniels as guests of honor.

Commissioner and Mrs. Joseph W. Folk will entertain a dinner party Tuesday night.

Tuesday Light Rear Admiral and Mrs. Richardson Clover will be hosts at the largest event of the evening, a dinner and dance at the country club for their daughters, the Misses Richardson.

Hundreds of guests will dine and dance at the Chevy Chase Club Wednesday night, and on the same evening there will be a hop at Fort Myer, preceded by numerous dinner parties and followed by as many suppers.

Mr. Justice and Mrs. Willis Van Devanter will be hosts at a dinner Saturday night.

Mrs. Harry Reade will give a luncheon April 6 in honor of her guest, Miss Laura Hildreth Peckham, who will come from Bryn Mawr to spend Easter with her. Miss Hildreth last autumn won the New England literary prize, and not only a fine Greek and Latin scholar, but is as well an unusually beautiful girl.

Senator and Mrs. Newlands will entertain an Easter breakfast at a large party at their country place today.

Mrs. Henry Breckenridge has out invitations for a luncheon party of thirty-four at the Chevy Chase Club, Monday. There will be a large number of guests, and the party will be most enjoyable.

Miss Dorothy Bennett has as a guest for the week end, Miss Bernice Claypool, daughter of the late Senator and Mrs. Noah Claypool of Ohio and Mrs. Claypool. Miss Marian Brigham of Cleveland, Ohio, is also a week-end guest.

Navy and Marine Corps Notes.

Lieut. R. M. Brainard, U. S. N., and Mrs. Brainard have an apartment at the Ontario. Lieut. Brainard holds at the present time the important position of assistant director of target practice.

Mrs. Pierce Crosby, widow of Admiral Crosby, is busy this season in having with her at her home, 1718 Connecticut avenue, her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Tittman.

Capt. Frank Halford, United States Marine Corps, since his assignment to duty as assistant quartermaster in this city, has been making his home at 1834 Columbia road.
